WHY STUDY IN GERMANY

Germany is one of the top sought countries to study in, and approximately 15% of students in Germany are foreigners. This shows the flourishing learning environment Germany offers for its students, as it provides one of the world's best teaching experiences, research resources, and facilities; that's why the German qualifications are recognized worldwide for being well established and practical.

Germany supports students with potential: by helping them hone their skills and develop their talents.

Choose between various courses:

There are around 450 state-recognized specialized technical universities or universities with general orientation, with more than 17,000 courses, especially in the Applied Sciences Universities, which are known for their strong practical relevance.

Excellent education with low cost:

Universities in Germany are free; they only charge administration fees which range from 100 - 400 euros.

Life in Germany is also incredibly affordable, especially in Eastern Germany; students enjoy canteens, and the residence halls are supported with subsidies. There are also discounts for students on cultural, leisure and sports activities.

Students can also work while studying to earn their pocket money or save up while immersing themselves in German culture.
